Scheduled for April 13-14, 2011, the East Coast Games Conference will be held at the Raleigh Convention Center. The DGRC will be hosting a booth that highlights both our research and educational activities. On display will be a number of student-built games as well as research software showing our leading research tools in the areas of serious games and games-based learning.

In addition to the DGRC booth, DGRC faculty Dr. James Lester and Dr. Ben Watson will also be speaking in the technical tracks of the conference. For more details, see the ECGC website.
